Introduction

Ark is committed to the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and to the principles of accountability and the general rights of access to information, subject to legal exemption. The Act came into force for all Academies on 1 January 2011 and under the Act, any person has a legal right to ask for information held by Ark. They are entitled to be told whether Ark holds the information, and to receive a copy of the information, subject to certain exemptions.

This publication scheme was developed to ensure all our academies are as transparent as possible when it comes to the publication of information. Most of the information listed below is published routinely on the academies' websites and in their individual prospectuses.

Aims of the Scheme

- To proactively publish or otherwise make available as a matter of routine, information, including environmental information, which is held by Ark and falls within the classification below.
- To specify the information that is held by the Ark and falls within the classifications below.
- To proactively publish or otherwise make available as a matter of routine, information in line with the statements contained within this scheme.
- To produce and publish the methods by which the specific information is made routinely available so that it can easily be identified and accessed by members of the public.
- To review and update on a regular basis the information the Ark makes available under this scheme.
- To produce a schedule of fees charged for access to information which is made proactively available.
- To make this publication scheme available to the public.

The publication scheme and the material it covers will be readily available in hard copy from Ark. It is also available on the Ark and relevant Academy websites. This scheme conforms to the model scheme for Academies approved by the Information Commissioner's Office.

Dealing with Requests

All requests will be responded to in accordance with the Ark Freedom of Information Procedure.

Exemptions

Certain information is subject to either absolute or qualified exemptions. When we wish to apply a qualified exemption to a request we will invoke public interest test procedures to determine if public interest in applying the exemption outweighs the public interest in disclosing the information.

Ark will maintain a register of requests where we have refused to supply information and the reasons for the refusal. Information will be retained for 5 years.

Public Interest Test

Unless it is in the public interest to withhold information, it has to be released. Ark will apply the Public Interest Test before any qualified exemptions are applied.

Method by which information under the scheme is made available

Ark will indicate clearly to the public what information is covered by this scheme and how it can be obtained. Where it is within the capability of Ark, information will be provided on our website.

Where it is impracticable to make information available on our website or when an individual does not wish to access the information by this method, Ark will indicate how information can be obtained by other means and provide it by those means.

In exceptional circumstances, some information may be available only by viewing in person. Where this manner is specified, contact details will be provided and an appointment to view the information will be arranged within a reasonable timescale. Information will be provided in the language in which it is held or in such other language that is legally required. Where Ark is legally required to translate any information, it will do so.

Obligations under disability and discrimination legislation and any other legislation to provide information in other forms and formats will be adhered to when providing information in accordance with this scheme.

The purpose of this scheme is to make the maximum amount of information readily available at minimum inconvenience and cost to the public. Information published on our websites is free, although you may incur costs from your internet service provider. Charges made by Ark for routinely published material will be justified and transparent and kept to a minimum.

Charges may be made for actual disbursements such as large amounts of photocopying/printing or large postage charges. This also applies to priced items such as some printed publications or videos. We will let you know the cost before the information is provided. We reserve the right to refuse to supply information where the cost of doing so exceeds the current statutory maximum of £450.
